Alaska brings the only Territorial contest of which the national committee has information. Wisconsin is reported as being more backward in the matter of filing credentials than is any other State in the Middle West. Owing to the Wisconsin State primary law it is necessary dentials signed by the secretary of State. Twelve delegates have failed to make and no credentials for alternates have been received.

Nothing at all has been received from Montana, only half from Idaho, and the Vermont delegates-at-large are missing.

Contested Sents Numerous. That about 200 seats will be the subjects of contests before the national committee next week was made manifest today after Secretary Dover had compiled a list of the contests already on file. All centests must have been put in the mails by midnight, but many will not reach the committee for several days.

At present there are seventy-eight con tests from sixty-nine districts, two Territories, and seven States on file before the committee. The Territorial contests involve two seats each, and the State contests four seats apiece. The district centests come from all over the United States, although most of them are from the South. The Territories involved are Arizona and Alaska, and the States are Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Okla-homa, South Carolina, Tennessee, and The original estimates of the committee officers included 189 contests as the total, but unexpected additions have come in within the last few days, and the augmentations are expected to bring the total to the 200 mark.

Chairman New has sent out notices that the contests will be taken up according to the alphabetical order of the States and Territories. The first to be considered, therefore, will be those from Alabama, which will be brought before the committee on June 5
